

A Year In Review

2021 AT ECHO

Wow, 2021 was an incredible year!

As a community we embodied resilience and growth while we all adjusted to the new “normal” and embraced change with grace and poise.

EChO finished its first full year in our new home! Yahoo! We dove head first into unique challenges and explored new territory with your continued support and generosity.

It has been tremendously encouraging to see the outreach of Evergreen and our neighbors in the surrounding areas. You’ve come together from all walks of life to lend a hand, donate your time and energy as well as financial support and donations to ensure a better life for our families in need.

We couldn't ask for a better community. Thank you!

HAPPY ONE YEAR DALE!

In January 2021, we welcomed Dale Flanders as EChO’s new Executive Director and we’ve received excellent feedback on the progress he’s made and the joy he’s brought to our organization.

Check out the next page to see what staff had to say about their first year with Dale!

STAFF INSIGHT

“Dale has raised the level of everything at EChO. He has increased internal and external communication with the staff, the volunteers and the community. He has actively encouraged more grant requests. He has brought greater clarity and vision to what EChO is and where it is going.” Tim Clancy, Shelter

“Dale is an advocate for his staff! He recognized the need for an increase in benefits and wages to meet living standards. He has worked tirelessly to make adjustments and improvements for us all. Dale brings a much needed calming influencing to EChO and has impacted our culture overall.” Kaethe Zellner, Director of Program Services

“He has brought greater clarity and vision to what EChO is and where it’s going.” Tim, Shelter

We are so happy to have Dale join the EChO family.
He brings professionalism, experience and laughter to our team!”
Kim Gaudet, Resale Manager

“Dale has a passion for helping others. We witness it in everything that he does for this organization, our volunteers and staff. He brings a unique form of leadership, purpose and value to the table that we are blessed to experience as a team.”

Meaghan Moore, Development, Marketing & Communications

“We are thankful for Dale and his calm and caring demeanor. We love that he has a great sense of humor, and each month, we await breathlessly to see who will be awarded the “Gumby Award.” We are happy to have Dale supporting the team as we work through the challenges of each day.”

Amy Lankutis, Client Services Manager

A WORD FROM DALE. EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

“What a year it has been. The kind words from the staff are humbling and greatly appreciated. I am incredibly fortunate to come alongside this team of staff, Board members, volunteers and supporters to be part of this amazing organization that makes a real difference in our community.

In reality, I have only begun to scratch the surface of meeting the many people that make our work so successful and discovering the potential for impact that still lies ahead. When I took this opportunity a year ago it was hard to imagine the many great accomplishments and the challenges we would face in 2021. We continue to operate at high capacity to meet the ever-growing needs of those we serve. We seem to have new volunteers starting all the time who bring tremendous energy to our space. I see donations come in from a passionate people who often give sacrificially. “

“I marvel at the fact that I get to be part of this.”

“Every day as I walk through our renovation project I marvel at the fact that I get to be part of this. And yet I also stay awake some nights pondering how we can better serve our community; reflecting on the real human suffering that goes on around us, thinking of ways we can grow the funds to meet those needs, planning how we can run a successful Capital Campaign. For me, being able to think about those challenges is also a profound privilege.

So I say, “Thank you.” Thank you for how you support and serve our community through EChO. Thank you for your generous gifts of time, treasure, and talent. Thank you for the ripple effect that happens because you do the things you do. Thank you for trusting us to be stewards of your gifts to us. Thank you for making EChO one big, extended family.”

ECHO'S NEW HOME

In 2020 EChO's Board of Directors made a bold choice to buy our new building in the middle of the pandemic. The need for expansion both physically and professionally to better offer wrap-around services motivated the organization's move.

We are thankful to have such a great team of leaders who care about this community. In fall of 2022 EChO officially moved from Bancroft Hall to Meadow Drive.

This building has lots of history in Evergreen and we are happy to make it our permanent home. Please feel free to stop by and get a tour to see how construction is going, where our new food pantry will be and the space Resale will be moving into around June 2022! We are so thrilled.

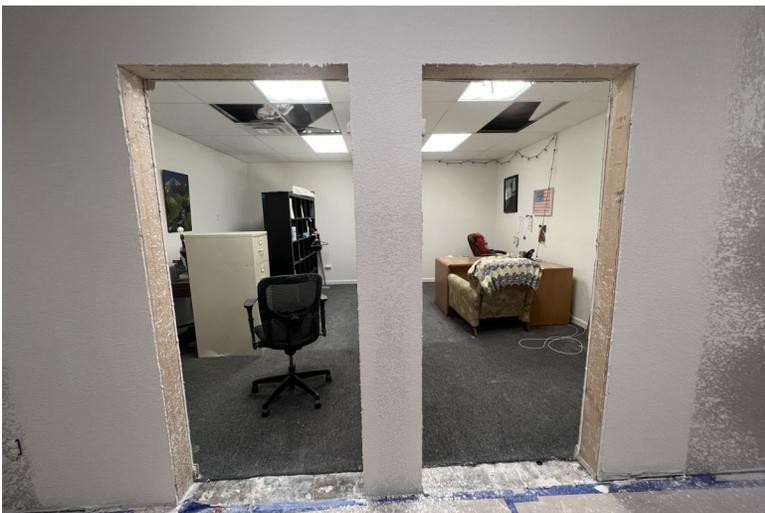

We began the official remodel in Fall of 2021. Here are some updates on the progress!

ECHO IS...

The single mom needing a little help with food, school supplies and Christmas gifts for her children. EChO is the young man struggling with homelessness that needs a hot meal and a warm bed so he can go to work the next morning and keep moving forward. EChO is the older adult who by shopping at the food pantry can afford to stay in her home on a fixed income. EChO is the person who lost a job and seeks help navigating the job application system. EChO is the family that needs firewood to keep warm and finds a well-stocked wood lot thanks to hard working volunteer lumberjacks.

EChO is a listening ear for those who need hope on what may be the worst day of their life. EChO is clients with complex and life-long challenges that require ongoing love and support in order to face another day. EChO is an incredible staff that goes the extra mile to support and care for people no matter their life circumstances. EChO is a team of volunteers whose commitment to the work of EChO and our community is immeasurable. EChO is businesses, churches, and organizations that promote and support us throughout their networks. EChO is a cadre of supporters who trust us to steward their generous donations in the best possible way.

EChO is YOU!
